TAX CUT READY FOR CONGRESS

Committee Approves
New Schedules.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The bill reducing taxes on incomes for the calendar year 1925 and coming years, which the Coolidge administration aims to make its cardinal achievement of the approaching session of congress, was completed tonight by the house committee on ways and means, so far as it relates to rates. With the conservative Democrats supporting the administration program of radical surtax rate reduction when they joined the La Follette group in combining in the last congress, the bill will go into the house virtually as a nonpartisan measure, instead of passage before the first tax payment period next March.

After giving final approval to the repeal and reduction of many excise taxes, the committee estimated that the aggregate reductions of income and other taxes will amount to $308,372,708. The committee agreed upon the detailed brackets of the surtaxes, having already determined the reductions of normal taxes.

Reached Exemption Action.
Upon the recommendation of the treasury, the committee found it necessary to amend its previous action extending the present $400 exemption for each child below 18 years of age to $500, up to 21 years, when the child is a student in a college, university or business school.

The surtax brackets, as approved, provide no decrease in surtaxes of income between $10,000 and $45,000. Such incomes get the benefit of exemption exemptions and decreases in normal rates, but a subcommittee, in working out the brackets under the 50 per cent maximum scheme, as previously approved, found that cuts in surtax rates below $45,000 would involve too great a loss in revenue.

The new surtax schedule starts at 18 per cent upon net incomes in excess of $10,000 and not in excess of $15,000, as provided in the present law. For each additional $2,000 up to $20,000, a ten per cent rate is added, as at present, on the amount of net income in excess of $20,000. Eleven per cent applies between $20,000 and $25,000, 12 per cent between $25,000 and $30,000, 13 per cent between $30,000 and $35,000, 14 per cent between $35,000 and $40,000, 15 per cent come in the afternoon. What occurred was that the morning selling reached a number of stop loss orders and that these, in turn, touched off further, causing many of the speculative issues to collapse as a "house of cards." Each new sale overlapped the preceding one and caused a weakening of the entire structure on which the bull market was built.

Motors Hardest Hit

Motor stocks, which have been the leaders of the present upward movement, were the hardest hit. Sales of these shares appeared at intervals on the tape in tremendous volume, and at such prices that Wall street, as a whole, was in the dark most of the day as to the actual market value of the shares of most of the motor companies of the country.

Stock exchange facilities were inadequate to handle the business, and at the close the ticker was 30 minutes behind the market. At one time Chrysler Motors was selling on the floor of the stock exchange at 217, when its last ticker sale was 215. The same was true of United States Steel, American Can, United States Cast Iron Pipe, and other stocks.

Action Is Unprecedented

Today's market was unlike any which Wall street has ever before seen; in fact, the movement of stocks, particularly the motor shares, of the last two or three months has been entirely unprecedented. Wall street has no yardstick by which the recent movement can be measured, nor has it any yardstick by which today's decline may be gauged.

The boom started in the late summer because of a continued demand for motor cars, and fuel has been added to this flame by large orders and continued high earnings of the principal motor companies. Speculative fervor throughout the country has been excited by the gains in these shares, and they have advanced from gains of 10 per cent to as much as 300 per cent or more in open market value.

Great Steel Boom

Today's wild decline took place in the face of the best news the market has had this week from an industrial standpoint. This was an increase of 321,886 tons in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation, bringing the total to 4,109,188 tons. This was the largest increase in unfilled orders of the steel corporation in any single month this year.

Great interest centers in the probable market movement of the next two or three days. The bull market really started with the election of President Coolidge last year, and prices of stocks have advanced almost perceptibly since that time, with an intermittent period of dullness during the late summer. Wall street now wonders whether the "bull market" is over or whether this is merely a drastic reaction in the course of a bull market such as usually occurs when markets work themselves into an unhealthy technical position.

DOCTORS HONOR DR. R. H. BABCOCK, HEART SPECIALIST

(Picture on back page.) High tribute was paid last night to Dr. Robert H. Babcock, who, 71 and blind, many years, is a celebrated heart specialist. A hundred of the city's leading physicians attended a banquet in his honor at the Drake hotel. The speakers lauded Dr. Babcock as a scholar, as physician, and as friend. It was pointed out that Dr. Babcock is able to play bridge, shave himself, read his watch, and do many other things as well as a person with sight. He is recognized as an authority on organs whose disorders can be diagnosed through hearing alone. The speakers were Dr. William A. Pusey, Dr. Hugh Patrick, Dr. Frank Billings, Edwin F. Sweet of Grand Rapids, Mich., and the Rev. John Timothy Stone of the Fourth Presbyterian church. Dr. James B. Herrick was toastmaster.

FUND DEAD AT GAS JET. John Galey, 60, of 532 North Dearborn street, was found dead in his room yesterday with a blow from a gas light jet in his mouth and the gas turned on.

deal or reduce the tax on admissions. Some sentiment appeared in behalf of the elimination of the tax from what is known as the spoken drama, the admission takes to remain on musical shows and the movies. There also was some sentiment for taking off the tax on high class musical entertainments. The committee requested treasury experts to submit for consideration a draft of a provision for making such exceptions and a report as to difficulties of administration. A tax will remain on club dues, the committee refusing to repeal it as advocated by various organizations.

Repeal Tax on Firearms. In repealing the tax on all firearms, the committee reserved the right to take up later the desirability of retaining the tax on revolvers and pistols with a view to regulating their sale or as a means of obtaining information which would enable states to provide such regulation. The largest revenue loss from any of the excise taxes will result from the reduction from five to three per cent of the tax on passenger automobiles and the repeal of the taxes applying on trucks, tires and accessories. The aggregate loss will exceed $67,000,000.

The committee cut the rate on small size cigars from $1.50 to 75 cents per 1,000; on so-called class A cigars, selling at retail at 5 cents, from 34 to 25; on class B cigars, from 35 to 25.

on class C cigars, from 35 to 25; on class D cigars, from 35 to 25; on class E cigars, from 35 to 25; on class F cigars, from 35 to 25; on class G cigars, from 35 to 25; on class H cigars, from 35 to 25; on class I cigars, from 35 to 25; on class J cigars, from 35 to 25; on class K cigars, from 35 to 25; on class L cigars, from 35 to 25; on class M cigars, from 35 to 25; on class N cigars, from 35 to 25; ANGELICAN CHURCH TO GIVE FAITH HEALING A TRIAL

Bishop Puts Doctors
on Inquiry Board.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

(Copyright: 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.)

LONDON, Nov. 10.—One of the most stunning steps taken by a clergyman of England since the war and one most likely to cause a sensation in ecclesiastical circles was taken by the archbishop of Canterbury, head of the Church of England, today when he appointed a committee of six doctors and six

clergymen to investigate the possibilities of faith

healing in connection with regular church activities.

The committee,

which is headed by the bishop of Southwark, is ordered to make a thorough investigation into the realm of psychic research—a field in which

Anglican churchmen being almost aloof in the orthodox religious world

endeavored to penetrate the mysteries of mesmerism.

To Consider Birth Control.

Even the much debated question of birth control figures in the program of the committee. Other matters to be studied include modern methods for the prevention of crime, the treatment of insane persons, and the consideration of scientific psychology in connection with the so-called miraculous cures effected at revival meetings. The committee will try to place mental suggestion on a solid basis, so that it may be incorporated in the regular curriculum

of students of divinity.

"This is the first really big step toward the recognition of spiritual healing and coordination of the work of the medical profession and the spiritual world," the Rev. Harold Anson, chairman of the guild of health, asserted.

Follow Americans' Lead.

The question of the churches' attitude toward faith healing has been the context of a warm controversy in the British church world since the war. Hitherto the officials have frowned on the newer doctrines, but partly as a result of the church's efforts to promote churchmen in the Atlantic coast cities of America and partly due to the interest in the matter here, the more progressive elements are clamoring

for the church to change its attitude.

A year ago the Bishop of Oxford appointed a committee to investigate the more recent developments and the committee recommended that the Archbishop of Canterbury create a permanent committee.

8 Die for Germ Bomb Plot

Against Roumanian King

VIENNA, Nov. 10.—[U. P.]—Eight men arrested at Galatz on the Bessa-ra frontier are reported to have been summarily executed by Roumanian authorities in connection with an alleged plot to assassinate King Ferdinand of Roumania. A bomb filled with poisonous germs was to have been used against the king while he was hunting

in the Danube swamps, it is reported.

Five More Flyers Back Mitchell in His Attack on Army Aviation Administration

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Col. William Mitchell presented five witnesses today in his trial for insubordination in making criticisms of the army and navy's administration of the air service.

All of them were officers of long experience in the air service or of present close affiliation with it, and all were relatively young men.

Their testimony comprised long narratives of death, delays and damage;

of training which they swore had been neglected and of recommendations which had been ignored.

Tell of Fatalities.

The outstanding points in their evidence were:

That the peace time fatalities in the army air service from 1918 to 1924

were "approximately" 25 times more than in all the rest of the army combined.

That the air service reserve of pilots is 5,000, but that only one in ten gets training.

That among the fifteen states where an air reserve is part of the national guard, there is not one state which has sufficient air service equipment.

That the air service reserve, as a whole, is a paper organization, except for one or two squadrons.

That in time of war, out of all the 5,000 air reserve officers, 500 would be able to take a plane and fly after two weeks' training, 500 more after a month or two of training, while the rest would be useless without three or four months' training.

That aviation officers in the National Guard flying training camps

have been flying without parachutes

for four years and that there have been thirteen fatalities in National Guard aviation in four years, half of which were due to faulty equipment.

Hazard in J. N. Planes.

That J. N. planes are so constructed that it is impossible to use a parachute while flying them, thus doubling the hazard.

And that the navy sent Lieutenant

Commander Byrd into the arctic with borrowed army planes which had received service tests and that one of their type failed in a flight at Mc-

Cook field, Dayton, O., after the Mac-

Millan planes had gone south.

The significance of this last testimony, which was given by Col. W. E.

Gilmore, chief of the supply division of the army air service, was its general agreement with Col. Mitchell's accusation that the MacMillan expedition had been sent north with planes designed for use in the tropics.

Col. Gilmore was specific, saying that the army had bought those planes

for use in Panama, Hawaii, and the Philippine islands, and that they were never intended for use in waters where they might encounter floating ice.

Navy to Probe Statement.

On at least one of the numerous accusations against the navy which Col.

Mitchell released yesterday in his sixty page statement to the court, the navy is going to take action. Col.

Mitchell, in the statement, declared that "we will prove by evidence that an officer of the navy department endeavored to get Mrs. Lansdowne, widow of Commander Lansdowne,

to give false testimony retracting her former statement that Commander

Lansdowne was ordered to take the Shenandoah on her fatal flight to the middle west over his protest."

As a result of that accusation, the naval court of inquiry on the Shenandoah disaster will recall Mrs. Lansdowne to the stand on Monday and will ask her to give the name of the officer whom Mitchell and Reid accused and the circumstances of the alleged attempt to intimidate her.

Asked when he would offer Mrs.

Lansdowne as a witness in the trial of Col. Mitchell, Mr. Reid said: "I do not know. I am told that she is in poor health."

Tells of Hawaiian Crash.

The most extensive witness of this day in the trial of Col. Mitchell was

Capt. Robert Oldys of the war plans section of the war department, who

He recounted the circumstances of the death in a plane crash in Hawaii of

Maj. Wheeler, who, said the witness, was told by the late Col. Chamberlain, chief of staff of the Hawaiian department, that he, as group commander, would be held financially and morally responsible if he did not materially reduce the number of crashes.

"Just before he was killed," said the witness, "Maj. Wheeler told me of this 'bawling out,' as he called it, and said he did not know what he was going to do. He had always told his men to fly straight ahead, if their motors quit, so as to save themselves and not the planes. Twenty minutes later

Maj. Wheeler's motor quit 200 feet above the field and he tried to turn back into the field in order to save his machine. He crashed. By the time I got to him he had been burned up with his observer."

Testifying along the lines of Col.

Mitchell's numerous charges that

"high ranking officers" of the war department has given congressional and other boards "false and misleading information," Capt. Oldys said that although the McNair board's report on aviation conditions in the Hawaiian islands had been pronounced inaccurate

by Gen. Patrick, chief of the air service, and declared to contain "glaring mathematical errors" by Gen. Williams, chief of ordnance, it had been used before a committee of congress

by Brig. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, assistant chief of the general staff.

Gen. Patrick's comment on this report had been that "no official use should be made of it, adding, "I cannot, in any way, agree with the report and do not want it used before any board."

Questioned by Court.

Throughout his testimony, Capt.

Oldys was emphatic and Gen. Howse,

president of the court, finally asked:

"Do you think the general staff should always accept your recommendations?"

"As the general staff is at present constituted, I do, sir," was the reply.

Gen. Booth, another of the judges,

asked: "How would you reorganize

the general staff if given the opportunity?"

"As recommended by Gen. Mitchell," said Capt. Oldys.

Maj. H. H. Arnold, who is in charge of the information division of the air service, also testified that Gen. Drum had been "inaccurate" in testifying before the President's aircraft board that the air service of the United States was "favorably with these other powers."

"As a matter of fact," said the witness, "it does not compare favorably with that of any first class power."

Maj. Arnold also testified that the war department maintains "a propaganda section" with four officers and five civilians in it.

Tells of Accidents.

Giving statistics on accidents in the air service, Maj. Arnold said 27 per cent of them were due to material defects, adding, "in accidents we are about the same as England."

Lieut. Col. W. G. Schauffer Jr., of the air service reserve corps, testified

as to the ineffectiveness of anti-aircraft guns in interfering with the mission of aircraft, saying that certain

JUDGE RECASTS SHERIFF'S FATE— IN SAME MOLD

Term Four Months After Lake Case Ruling.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson put his former jail scandal rulings in the judicial hat yesterday, stirred them about a bit, in a manner of speaking, and then allowed Sheriff Peter M. Hoffman and former Warden Wesley H. Westbrook to pull out the unlucky numbers.

When they had studied out their net scores the two defendants found they were sitting about the same distances from the Du Page and De Kalb county jail portals as they were before the judge changed the recipe.

The First Decision.

On Judge Wilkerson's first guess as to what punishment was the due of Sheriff Hoffman and Capt. Westbrook for the gentle treatment of Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, he said he would enter an order sentencing the sheriff to a month in jail and fine him $2,500 for his courtesies to Druggan. Westbrook was scheduled for four months in jail and no fine.

Yesterday the court withdrew his fine for the sheriff in connection with Druggan, but assessed a like amount for shortcomings in connection with Lake, allowing the jail sentence to cover the Druggan angle of the case. Westbrook's sentence in the Druggan case was reduced to three months and he was given a month on Lake's account.

The court announced that formal orders will be entered on Nov. 20. He also said that on that date Terry Druggan, now in the De Kalb county jail, will be admitted to bail.

Westbrook Called Nut.

After Judge Wilkerson had failed to act favorably on affidavits filed by Capt. Westbrook in mitigation, the former warden's attorney, James J. Barbour, filed a new petition based upon Westbrook's claims of mental and physical disability. In the petition the captain was referred to as a nut, though described as "another Roosevelt in daring and fearlessness."

Here are some of the things that Attorney Barbour claims afflict his client:

He is sad, self-centered, introspective, anxious, suffering from irritable exhaustion, ready fatigue, indecision, poor concentration, and he dreads responsibility and feared to make decisions.

GUNMEN SHOOT "SAMOOTS," NEW BOOTLEG CHIEF

Assistant State's Attorney Joseph P. Savage to investigate the shooting. A dozen or more witnesses were called in. Among them was Diamond Joe Esposito, who hastened to the hospital soon after Samoots arrived and held a whispered conversation with him. Esposito declared that all Amatuna told him was that he wanted a doctor.

Then the other witnesses, all of whom were in the barber shop when the shooting occurred or shortly afterward, told their stories. They agreed that the attackers were dark of skin, one tall and one short, and that nothing was said. The short man fired four times. It was his bullet which felled Samoots. As he lay on the floor the other man fired at him, but missed.

Mrs. Bertha Drake, 2234 West Chicago avenue, the manicure girl, recalled that she had polished Amatuna's nails. It was to Vincenzo Gioia that he confided he was going to the opera. Four tickets for last night's performance were found in his pockets at the hospital.

Harry Kanter, a barber, remembered that the customer he was shaving ran out with wildness on one side of his face when the shooting began and had not returned for the rest of it. Michael Grecco, 1116 Newberry avenue, was standing outside when the shots were heard. He dashed in with one Dominic Caruso.

Seeks Aids in Taxi.

These men, who were friends of Samoots, carried him to a taxi cab and took him to the cigar store. Two men joined them there and rode to the hospital. Grecco and Caruso took the wounded man in and the other pair drove away. They are being sought in the belief that they can tell Amatuna's version of the shooting.

At the hospital, when Mr. Savage and Capt. Lynch tried to question Samoots, they found that his limbs were paralyzed and the quills were postponed. Previously he had said he did not know the men who shot him. Samoots was known as an enemy of the Genna forces. Always a lone worker, his courage was unquestioned. Once, it was reported, he stopped in front of a garage that was headquarters for the Genna faction and, unarmed as usual, told several youths who made slighting remarks about his car that he wouldn't be killed in front of that place; any other place was all right.

Taken in Labriola Death.

Amatuna first came to the notice of the police in 1921, when he was taken into custody in connection with the vendetta killing of Paul Labriola. His companion then was Frank Gambino, a dandy of the same stamp, whose splendid dress won for him the title of "Don Chic." He got out from under on that charge.

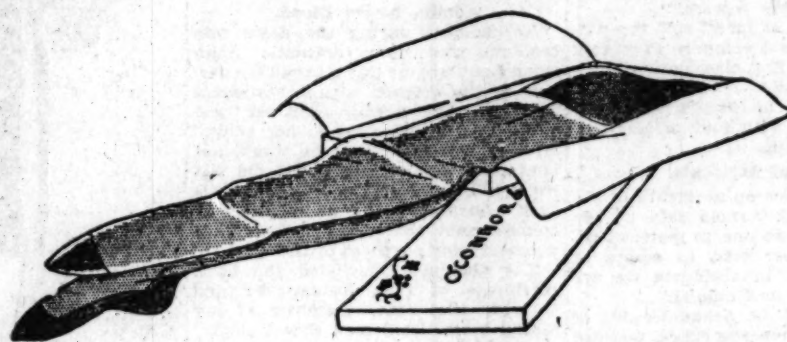

A boon companion and business partner of John Scallie, now on trial for the murder of Policemen Walsh and Olson, he was arrested as the fourth man in the car with the three identified killers. But the police were satisfied with his story about this and let

J. EARLING, 77, DIES; ONCE CHIEF OF C., M. & ST. P.

Noted Railway Pioneer Ill
a Long Time.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 10.—(AP)—At 7:15 p. m. J. Earling, 77, former president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, died here tonight at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Smith. Death followed a lingering illness.

Mr. Earling is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Peables Earling, and three children, George F. Earling, Harburn Earling, and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Milwaukee. Several years ago Mr. Earling established a residence in Daytona, Fla.

SKETCH OF HIS CAREER.
Mr. Earling was born in Richfield, Wisconsin, in 1848, and commenced his railroad life at the age of eighteen, as telegraph operator at Watertown, Wis. He was promoted through various positions, becoming successively division superintendent, general superintendent, general manager, vice president and chief executive of the railroad, which he served actively until his retirement in 1919.

Mr. Earling's chief monument probably was the Pacific coast extension of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road. With the late James J. Hill, Mr. Earling believed no middle western railroad could become great without an outlet to the Pacific. Many of his associates did not agree with him, but he will triumph and he went ahead with the project, the fulfillment of which has been held responsible for much of the road's financial troubles in more recent years. It is contended, however, that the extension will prove to be a long run a benefit to the road, when the far western country grows more in population.

First to Use Electricity.
He also made the extension the first railroad to be electrically operated over the Rocky mountains, nearly 500 miles of the line being run in that way.

Even after he became its president, Mr. Earling continued to keep in touch with details of the road. It is said he would spend nights in the yards, riding switch engines and talking to the men.

When the extension was being built, Mr. Earling spent weeks on the construction, working night and day and watching every detail of the work.

The human side of President Earling's career attracted public notice frequently. He reached the Cherry, Ill. mine disaster a few hours after it occurred and directed in person the work of relief.

CHARGESWIFE HAS NEW SWEETHEART FOR EACH MONTH

Love affairs of Mrs. Ella Mae Perry Troost with a dozen other men were described by Edward H. Troost, president of the Concordia Marble company, 8000 West Madison street, in his testimony yesterday before Superior Judge Harry A. Lewis.

Troost summoned into court Miss Daphne Raynor, vaudeville performer, a former friend of Mrs. Troost, who told of many parties at Mrs. Troost's home, 811 Cornelia avenue, and at various cafes. Mrs. Troost had a new sweetheart every month, according to Miss Raynor.

Judge Lewis finally ordered Troost to pay his wife $20 a week temporary alimony, pending an investigation of his charges. Troost married the woman from whom he is now seeking a divorce in 1920 when she was to have been the principal witness against him in an investigation of a company of which he was head.

MICHELSON IS NEAR TO SECRET OF LIGHT SPEED

Within "Plus or Minus"
20 Miles of Velocity.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Determining the velocity of light to a minute degree of accuracy is a possibility which may be established early next year according to Dr. A. A. Michelson, head of the department of physics of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Michelson announced before the National Academy of Sciences today that he has come within "plus or minus" 20 miles a second of establishing the true velocity, the result of experiments with octagon mirrors in two mountains in the Sierra Nevada.

The experiments covered a period of one year, beginning in the summer of 1924. The next attempt to reduce the degree of accuracy will be made next spring on Mount Wilson, the home site of the previous experiments. Dr. Michelson hopes then to reduce the degree to within "plus or minus" five miles a second of the true figure, and in a later experiment to the true velocity.

How Experiments Were Made.
Scientists heretofore have established the velocity of light at about 186,000 miles a second, but this calculation has long been known to be only approximate.

Explaining his experiment, made in conjunction with Director Hale of Mount Wilson observatory, Dr. Michelson states that the first step had been to obtain an accurate measure of the distance between Mount Wilson and Mount St. Antonio. This was obtained by the government at 22 miles.

Octagon mirrors were placed on the two mountains. They were accurate as to angle within one part in a million. Dr. Michelson estimated. An arc light as strong as the light of the sun was cast upon one of the mirrors, which, while revolving, carried the gleam of light across the chasm to the other mirror-like contrivances on the other mountain.

Auxiliary equipment of concave mirrors was used in the experiment to correct all of the light cast. The first attempt resulted in the glare of the reflecting mirror frustrating a measurement. Arrangements then were made to correct the reflected light to several mirrors and hence to a point where the velocity could be estimated.

Incidental to Einstein Theory.
The scientist said the velocity of light experiments were only incidental to another purpose of his visit to Mount Wilson—the testing of the Einstein theory of relativity. The findings of which were announced some time ago.

Dr. Michelson said that if the velocity of light can be determined to a certain degree of accuracy, then it will be possible to say how long it will take an electron to make one revolution. The experiment would have a bearing on phases of the Einstein theory.

The scientist said if he were successful in establishing the accurate velocity of light he would deem the achievement sufficient for the career of one scientist, and he would have the satisfaction of knowing that no one else probably would try the experiment for the next 50 years at least.

Obligation—Inspiration!

THERE is nothing that holds one so rigidly to a definite course as public avowal of purpose. It is an invitation to scrutiny. It places every action in the broad daylight, subject to instant recognition of the slightest error or digression. It imposes the unescapable obligation to "make good" at every turn or suffer the disparagement of every tongue. It is a veritable judgement note, written to bearer on demand, guaranteeing the service or the pound of flesh.

But also it is an inspiration. Knowing that every move is under public gaze, one takes great pride in doing each task well. It makes a difference to the worker to know it makes a difference how he works.

And therein lies the primary object of Capper & Capper advertising. It is designed as a public commitment, an invitation to scrutiny and a challenge to challengers, in order that each man in our own and allied organizations may feel a great responsibility placed upon him.

Each man does feel it—very earnestly. But each man glories in it. With such responsibility and such assurance that his utmost in craftsmanship is indeed worth while, a man will do his best.

The material in every Capper suit is the designers' and weavers' answer to the unusual demand that they know our publicity has placed upon them. Every stitch in "Stratford Clothes" is taken with the thought, "This must be a suit worthy of the high claims made for us." Every salesman realizes that the suit his patron buys must please that patron more than others he has had.

That is what our publicity is planned to accomplish. It is published not to lure a patronage but to secure our patrons.

And they will tell you how it has succeeded in this purpose. They tell us. And their continued, growing friendliness tells us even more convincingly.

Advertising "to oneself" is not the common understanding of advertising, we know, but we believe it is its highest conception. Let every advertiser thus view his published claims as public espousal of a sacred trust and "The New Order of Things" will some day come to be no longer a Capper & Capper service but a common practice for the common good.

FIND SMALLPOX AT OAK FOREST; VACCINATE 4,000

Four thousand inmates of the Oak Forest infirmary were vaccinated yesterday following the discovery of two cases of smallpox. A force of 14 physicians spent most of the day vaccinating the inmates and attendants. Such excitement followed disclosure of the disease in the infirmary that for a short time a riot was feared. John Jones and another patient whose name was not revealed were the two men found to be infected. They were quickly removed to an isolation hospital at Lawndale.

Quiescent Fears of Inmates.
Dr. Jacob Meinke, head physician, then addressed the inmates and told them there was no danger if they would submit to vaccination. He summed in 14 other doctors, who were away all day vaccinating patients. Dr. Meinke said he did not expect the disease to spread.

Quarantine to Be Rigid.
Patients may be received, but no visitors will be allowed or patients discharged. Employees will be confined to the grounds.

Some weeks ago there was a rumor that smallpox had appeared in the infirmary, but officials at that time said there was no ground for the report.

COLLEGE IN ILLINOIS.
Nov. 9.—In 1827 John Mason came west in 1818 to establish the Rock Spring seminary removed in 1832 to Upper Alton seminary and in 1835 Dr. Benjamin of Boston, a graduate of Harvard, put this struggling seminary by giving it $10,000, a donation to education for the donor's honor. The seminary thereafter changed to Knox and has so remained.

In the beginning Prof. Everett and Warren Levee descendants have been identified with the college. Earlier students was Gen. Mer. Active in its affairs have been Dr. Austin who wrote its history in 1884 to 1890, and Dr. Myron of Chicago, president of the president now is Dr. George. This pioneer institution of Illinois will shortly celebrate

CORRECTION.
Ill. Nov. 7.—Knox college second oldest college in the state. I discovered this fact after I had sent my article. I believed that Knox was institution of higher learning in the state. However, it is fourth oldest. Shortleaf colonized in 1827, Illinois colonized McKendree in 1828. Of Knox is older than university, it did not exist

MEN ONLY SINCE '25.
Ill., Ind., Nov. 7.—Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind., was 1825. Unlike some of the colleges of the country, it has not stalled, and the enrollment five hundred. Wabash has one of the true academic spirit of any other school in the country, the best thing about it has made it rise above all schools of the middle fact that it is nonsectarian.

CORRUPT CITY CONDONES CRIME, GENNA DEFENSE

Not a plea in defense of wretched innocence, or a prayer for mercy, but a fiery, wrathful condemnation of the city's officialdom—that was Pat O'Donnell's theme yesterday when he blew his oratorical blarney toward the jury he asks to acquit the two Genna aids, Albert Anselmi and John Scallisi.

The veteran of the criminal bar, his throaty roars belying the age that his snowy hair betrays, cast forth his picture of a city corrupted to its very throne of power, and a battle of words ensued when State's Attorney Crowe rose to denounce the charges, coming, he said, from a man whose business is the defense of murder.

Tonight the trial is due to end. But before it ends the state's attorney will have demanded, he vowed yesterday, that the jury weave two ropes around the throats of Scallisi and Anselmi. Thus, and only thus, Mr. Crowe declared, can be avenged the murders of Policemen Harold Olson and Charles Walsh, who died six months ago in battling Scallisi, Anselmi, and Mike Genna.

There can be no manslaughter verdict, with its mild penalty, for Judge William V. Brothers, who presides over the trial, yesterday ruled out the manslaughter charge. The jury must decide on murder and must decree death or prison or must vote freedom, the judge held.

Crowe Ready to Answer.

There is much for him to answer, the prosecutor said, and he is well keyed to the task.

"There is the doctrine of Michael Ahern, the defense counsel who would have policemen shot if they stop suspects of crime on the street without warrant," Mr. Crowe said. "That doctrine is more dangerous than the murders themselves."

"And there is the clamor of O'Donnell, who would put the law enforcers of the city in the chairs of Scallisi and Anselmi to answer for the two killings."

For six years, said Attorney O'Donnell in his argument, the five Genna brothers maintained a barter house for moonshine alcohol; maintained it openly and notoriously, as public as the greatest department store on State street.

Sanctioned by City.

"And not a wheel could have turned, not a drop been sold," O'Donnell thundered, "unless it was done on the open permission of the law enforcing agencies of Chicago. The Gennas became mighty men and influential. Three hundred policemen crossed the threshold of their Taylor street shop every month."

"Now, after six years of condonation, of license, the officials attack the Sicilians. But didn't the Sicilians, daily for six years, see hundreds of policemen violate the law and their oaths, and join in crime with the notorious Gennas?"

Rising crescendo smote the jurors ears then, as the lawyer pulled out his ace card:

"They are frantic to turn the public eye from this rottenness and corruption in their own midst, and so they peace the populace and have them turn again and go back to sleep!"

Then it was that State's Attorney Crowe rose slowly to his feet and loosed this bit of colloquy:

MR. CROWE—If the court please, this is an attempt to put in a false, misleading defense. There is not a word of evidence to sustain Mr. O'Donnell's remarks.

MR. O'DONNELL—You'd better not start on me, Mr. Crowe. I'm not in the mood for it.

MR. CROWE—There is nothing I start with you that I will not finish. My reputation in this community is such that I don't fear any man whose business it is to protect murder.

There was another such clash, which followed one of Mr. O'Donnell's attacks on the police, in which the lawyer called for the jury to establish protection against oppressions of the police.

"The people who need protection are not gunmen and bootleggers," Mr. Crowe explained. "The policemen need protection from the Gennas and their murderous shotguns."

Defense Objection Sustained.

"A policeman in this city had his head blown off last night—"

There was a chorus of loudly proclaimed objections from the defense attorneys, and Judge Brothers ordered the remark stricken from the record. Then O'Donnell went on.

"When the crook policemen have been sent to Leavenworth penitentiary and this city's house again is set in order, then, and only then, will the bootleggers, unable longer to continue in their nefarious trade, get out of town and stay out."

The lawyer ended quoting the Bible, first reciting the scriptural quotations of the state.

Quotes from Bible.

"I deplore the demand of the state that you exercise a holy writ in taking the lives of these men. The prosecutors have told you, in the words of the Bible, that 'those who live by the sword perish by the sword,' and they ask you to take 'an eye for an eye.' I resent the state's attempt to use the holy book in demanding death for our clients."

Then O'Donnell himself invoked the Bible aid, telling how Cain slew Abel and was made the head of a great family and the ruler of a large city. In closing he said:

"Do your full duty as you see it and we will bow our heads and say 'Amen.'"

SEIZE HOLDINGS OF BEGGARS FOR WISCONSIN TAX

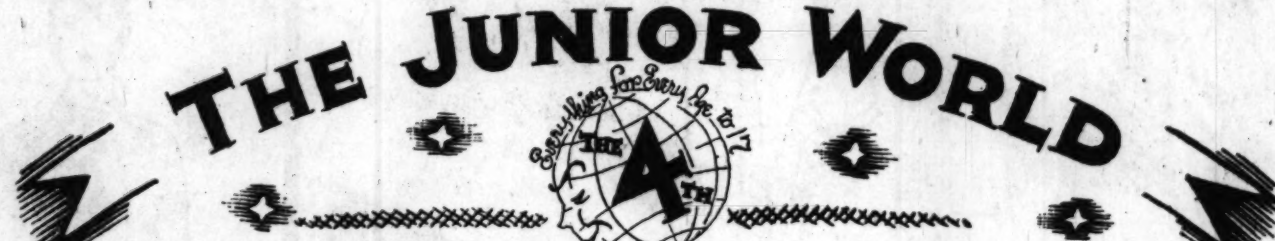

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Attorney Robert Wild was appointed today by Judge John C. Kappel to take possession of all property left in Wisconsin by the late John I. Beggs, with a view to turning over to the state the sum of $1,500,000 claimed as an inheritance tax. The Beggs holdings are valued at $20,000,000 and Milwaukee county is claimed as the late capitalist's residence, despite the codicil to his will which designated Fort Pierce, Fla., as his home.

Rejecting the theory of Lawrence O'well, executor of the estate, that Mr. Beggs was a nonresident of Wisconsin and that the state was entitled to taxes only on property actually held in Wisconsin or stock in Wisconsin corporations, the state will attempt to collect taxes on all holdings, whether inside or outside the state, Attorney General Herman L. Ekern said.

MOTIVES BEHIND FATAL BOMBING BAFFLE POLICE

Inquiry Reveals No Clues
in Policeman's Death.

A day of police investigation into the bombing which killed Policeman Fred M. Schmitz in the basement of his home at 5233 West Van Buren street Monday, revealed little which might tend to expose the bomber or the motives behind the act. Chief of Police Collins expressed himself at a news conference as being unable to solve the case.

However, from outside sources it became known that Policeman Schmitz had told friends of participating in a raid on the Genna gang headquarters following the battle in which Policemen Harold Olson and Charles Walsh were slain. Whether any importance attaches to this angle of the case could not be ascertained.

Delay Coroner's Inquest.

A coroner's inquest was begun under the direction of Coroner Oscar Wolff, and after the hearing of several witnesses was postponed until Nov. 25 to give the police time in which to pursue their inquiry.

Considerable mystery was placed for a time upon the conduct on the stand at the inquest of Schmitz's widow, Mrs. Eleanor Schmitz. She testified that a large closed car had driven up in front of her home Monday evening, and that she recognized the voice of one of the occupants as that of a neighbor.

"Who was the neighbor?" the deputy asked.

Mrs. Schmitz said she was afraid to tell, but finally she whispered a name to the deputy and then left the stand. Coroner Wolff summoned the deputy to his office and after obtaining the same, said he was inclined to dismiss the woman's story as highly improbable.

Saw Men Fleeing Scene.

Other witnesses, including Mrs. Lois Peacock, who lives above the Schmitz apartment, testified to seeing men running from the scene at the time of the explosion. Mrs. Peacock said she heard one cry, "Get him! Get him!"

A possibility being considered is that the explosion was caused by a dynamite fuse in the coal in the Schmitz basement. It was pointed out that fuses sometimes remain in coal when it leaves the mines, not being noticed as the coal is shipped. A theory is that Schmitz, while tending the furnace, picked up such a fuse and that it exploded while he was examining it.

TWO TRUSTEES ATTACK SCHOOL TARGET PRACTICE

Inquiry Into R. O. T. C.
Work May Result.

Use of loaded rifles by high school boys in R. O. T. C. classes aroused a lively debate yesterday in a meeting of the finance committee of the board of education. An investigation of military training tactics throughout the school system may be a result.

The discussion arose when the appropriation of $200 for heating a shooting gallery in the Wendell Phillips High school was questioned by John H. English, a member of the committee.

Balks at Boys' Knowing Guns.
"Even if they are used for target practice, guns have no business in the hands of boys," the trustee declared. "This is something the board is doing that I know nothing about."

Mr. English ridiculed the theory that learning to shoot straight aids in the development of character, one of the expressed purposes of R. O. T. C. work. He said he would like to see the high school involved and see for himself what was being done. Mrs. W. S. Heffernan, another member, said she intended to do likewise. The appropriation was deferred.

Persons familiar with the R. O. T. C. work declare that all target shooting by the boys indoors is done with rifles arranged to shoot 22 caliber, with a small powder charge, and with the supervision given there is no danger.

MAGAZINE BRONC BUCKS GEORGE INTO CITY CELL

Romantic stories of the old days of the wild and woolly west were so absorbing to George Larson, a bricklayer, that he gave up work and laid around the house all day reading western story magazines. At least that was the story told by Mrs. Nellie Larson to Judge John Lupe yesterday in the Court of Domestic Relations.

So she went to work, she said, to support herself and baby, while all the money Larson got went for magazines.

"There is something wrong with a man who can't find a job in six months," Judge Lupe told Larson. "You have too much romance in your life—what you need is a few hard realities. You will find them in the House of Correction for the next six months."

RUM SMUGGLER USUALLY A YANK; OTHERS AFRAID

Report Says Foreign Ships Have Cut It Out.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The most and in fact the only successful rum blockade runners are American citizens sailing vessels of American registry, according to Attorney General Sargent today.

As a result of treaties made with practically all of the important European powers during the last two years, foreign vessel owners have been reluctant to venture within the territorial waters of the United States, where their craft and cargoes would be subject to confiscation.

Americans Take a Chance.

American smugglers, however, have not feared to take the chance, the report indicates. It shows that while only thirty-nine ships of foreign registry were captured inside the territorial jurisdiction during the last fiscal year, 753 American vessels of all sizes and all manned by American citizens were taken.

For the most part, according to the report, smuggling during the last year has been confined to Halifax, Nassau, and Havana on the east coast and Vancouver, B. C., on the west coast. Foreign owners putting out from these ports have carefully anchored at least an hour's run from the famous "twelve mile limit."

The Canadian liquor smuggling situation has become a much more perplexing problem than that along the Mexican border, the report continues.

Conflicting Statutes.

Enforcement of the rum row blockade is complicated by many legal questions, which have proved so troublesome that a complete revision of the smuggling statutes to make them applicable to the new conditions which have arisen under the Volstead act is recommended in the report.

An example of the difficulties encountered where two sets of laws are involved in ocean seizures is the practice of some courts to confiscate rum laden vessels as violators of the customs laws, while other courts seize only the cargoes and release the vessels under the prohibition law. As a result of the later procedure the department's records show the seizure of the same vessel two, three, and as many as four times as a liquor carrier.

DRY PAY ROLLERS FACE PAY CRISIS, J. P. HILL ASSERTS

Col. John P. Hill, congressman from Baltimore and champion of firebrand fermentation, passed through Chicago yesterday on the heels of the Anti-Saloon league convention and pronounced a benediction on that organization.

Those that met here, for the most part, he said, were the "professional pay rollers" of the dry. The rank and file of the church movement, he said, were missing. That fact he declared manifest in the league's own appeal to the churches to "relinquish," which he contended proved a realization that the churches have left the camp of the Volsteaders.

"And they called this their 'crisis convention,'" he continued. "If they tell the truth they will admit the crisis isn't over. It is just approaching. If I see correctly this will be the last convention of the Anti-Saloon league of any importance if it continues to adhere to its present narrow policies."

BOYS SENTENCED TO ST. CHARLES.

Two Waukegan boys who escaped from the Lake county detention home Monday night stole an automobile and drove to Highland Park. There they went to sleep and were arrested. County Judge Perry Persons sentenced them to St. Charles for the theft. The lads are Harold Bahling, 15 years old, and Floyd Gibb, 16 years old, both of Waukegan.

Jewels Gone After Sudden Death Subject of Inquiry

Disappearance of jewels valued at $5,000 from the body of John C. Emig, railroad official of Cincinnati, a few minutes after he dropped dead in front of the Auditorium theater, was the subject of an inquiry yesterday by Deputy Coroner Peter C. Granata.

Several witnesses testified at the inquest that Emig was wearing valuable jewels, but when the body was examined at the hospital the jewels had disappeared, Coroner Granata learned. Lawyers representing Emig's family asked that the inquest be continued to Nov. 24.

PARISIAN CHOCOLATES

A lot of people pay a high price for candy, because it's the easiest way to persuade themselves that they are getting quality. If you forget about price and package, and judge a confection strictly on its merits, you'll find that Parisian can be set up alongside any 80c or dollar a pound chocolate and the most critical candy palate in the world couldn't tell the difference. There isn't any difference. A variety of centers, nougats, caramels and assorted whipped creams. Sold Blue Ribbon Wednesday.

No. 1 of a series of tests to determine the effectiveness of preserving food with the Copeland System of Electric Refrigeration for the Home

Domestic Science experts unable to distinguish freshly picked tomatoes from those kept a week

THE following test was conducted recently by the Domestic Science Department of a prominent university. Six fully ripened tomatoes were placed in a refrigerator equipped with the Copeland System of Electric Refrigeration. One week later the tomatoes were removed and placed alongside an equal number, fresh from the vines.

When all of the tomatoes were at room temperature, members of the Domestic Science Staff were asked to differentiate between those that were fresh and those a week old.

Each tomato was cut, tasted, weighed and examined microscopically, yet the experts were forced to admit their inability to detect any difference between the two groups.

"The Copeland System of Electric Refrigeration", they stated in their report, "gives a new meaning to the word 'freshness'."

You, perhaps, would not have occasion to keep food this length of time but the test demonstrates conclusively just how fresh food is when kept with the Copeland System.

Any Copeland dealer will arrange the same—or a broader—test for you. Have him place any perishable food you select in a Copeland-equipped refrigerator for a week, or longer. The results will be a revelation.

The perfect preservation of perishable foods with the Copeland System is possible because of the control which automatically maintains a temperature of less than 50° Fahrenheit—a safe temperature. This safe temperature will always be at least 10° to 12° colder than that of ice. Yet the cost of operation is less than the cost of ice.

Several thousands of household systems are in successful operation in American homes today. The most forceful sales argument for the Copeland System of Electric Refrigeration is the testimony of present users contained in a 24-page booklet which will be mailed on request.

The Copeland System of Electric Refrigeration is easily installed. The Copeland Bond guarantees replacement of defective parts, necessary service for one year and eliminates all doubt of satisfactory performance.

Deferred payments if you wish. See the nearest Copeland dealer for descriptive literature.

CHICAGO WAIF OR CRIMINAL? WOMEN DEBATE

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Little old Chicago, the orphan child in the state legislature, or powerful Chicago, the crime center of the state of Illinois, furnished forth quite a flurry yesterday at the opening sessions of the three day convention of the Illinois League of Women Voters, in progress at the Congress hotel.

The discussion was all over the question of state reapportionment for legislative representation.

Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer, state senator from the Twenty-sixth district, and Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch of Evanston, a Democratic leader, staged a lively debate on the question yesterday afternoon in the meeting conducted by the department of efficiency in government, one of nine group meetings held.

Mrs. Bohrer is opposed to the redistricting idea—very.

Mrs. McCulloch believes that Chicago is the victim of a downstate oligarchy and wants that redistricting to come along as soon as possible.

It was a spirited meeting.

The senator spoke of some of the terrible things Chicago legislation has done—how it has killed off all the fish in the Illinois river, a thoroughfare where, she contends, dwell more fish than in any other river in the United States, mayhap in the world; how it exalted its own commerce above the horticulture, agriculture, and mining of downstate communities.

"Newspaper headlines tell us," she told the women, "that Chicago is the murder capital of the world; that its police are linked with political organizations. If these groups boss Chicago and Chicago gets an opportunity to boss the state it is reasonable to suppose that these same interests will help rule."

Mrs. McCulloch pointed out that the city would like an opportunity to vote its own convictions, and not to obey the dictation of a downstate oligarchy. Mrs. McCulloch declared that she believed the state of Illinois should be governed by the constitution of Illinois. And the constitution, she recalled to the meeting, provides for a reapportionment every ten years. The last one was in 1901.

As her last rhetorical blow, Mrs. McCulloch, turning to Mrs. Bohrer, reminded the senator from Bloomington that her own district, the 26th, lacked the number of persons necessary for a district and yet it was helping to legislate for Chicago.

This morning Mrs. Medill McCormick and Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank will tell "How to Make Politics Vital to Women." At a banquet this evening Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, who commanded the Yankees on the Rhine, will discuss the significance of the Locarno pact. Mrs. James W. Morrison, president of the Illinois league, also will speak.

KID WEIL'S BOND IS FORFEIT, BUT THAT ISN'T ALL

Joseph R. Weil (that's the Yellow Kid) steps into a courtroom and gets socked with a big fine and a jail sentence.

Then The Kid pauses outside on the stairs to eavesdrop, and beats its just as they are ready to hand him a term in the Bridewell and a lot of funny looking legal documents. This is in the not so dim past.

But yesterday Mr. Weil played safe and didn't show at all. Judge Albert B. George forfeited his $1,000 bond and issued a capias for him.

This might be serious to some folks. It was merely bush league stuff to Mr. Weil. Another woe was coming at him, in another court.

Over at Judge Herbert Immenhausen's court at the Sheffield avenue police station, Mrs. Anna J. Weil, 1212 Sherwin avenue, was asking a warrant for the arrest of Rose ("Lady") Bledsoe. Mrs. Weil didn't know where Lady lived. But she did know that she was blonde and clinging; that she is said to be a café entertainer, and that she is mighty fond of the Yellow Kid.

Mrs. Weil, well nigh as eloquent as her husband, that fluent conversationalist who has several times talked his way to freedom, told all about her knowledge that the Kid and Lady Bledsoe have lived together at four north side hotels. The warrant charges Miss Bledsoe with adultery.

Lady Bledsoe is the same young woman who swore out a warrant herself the other day against Mrs. Weil. She charged Mrs. Weil with having gone into her room, stolen her clothes and cut them up, "just because I went out with her husband."

Rockefeller Honeymooners Return from Trip Abroad

New York, Nov. 10.—(AP)—David Meriwether Milton and his bride, the former Abby Rockefeller, daughter of John D. Rockefeller Jr., arrived today aboard the Leviathan after a five months' honeymoon abroad. They will make their home here.

DANIEL WILLARD IS HERE TO GET TERMINAL DATA

Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, devoted the entire day yesterday to discussing the railway terminal situation of the south side. He held two conferences with Theodore W. Robinson, vice president of the Illinois Steel company, who is acting chairman of the citizens' committee on terminals; and last night Mr. Willard conferred with local B. & O. officials. The conversations between Mr. Willard and Mr. Robinson will be resumed today.

The conversations yesterday did not reach a point where an expression from Mr. Willard could be expected. His attitude was that of a seeker of information. It seems that the New York Central and the Rock Island officials have not disclosed in detail what their ultimate objective is and Mr. Willard wants to know all about the entire program. It is reported that President James Gorman of the Rock Island will be in town today.

LACK OF WATER ROUTE HANDICAPS MILLS, IS CLAIM

A. of C. Makes Survey of Steel Industry.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

A promising picture of the steel industry and the metal trades of the Chicago district is painted in the inventory of the Association of Commerce. The only blot on the canvas, in the opinion of the association, is the lack of the lakes-to-the-gulf and lake-St. Lawrence waterways. This deficiency is being used by Pittsburgh in its advantage.

Freight rates are a factor in steel prices. Since the abolition of Pittsburgh-plus both Chicago and Pittsburgh can compete for business in Toledo. The freight rate from each mill center is the same. The dividing line runs south through Dayton, central Kentucky, eastern Tennessee, striking Alabama at the northeast corner and ending at the southwest corner.

How Much Was Sold.

To the east is the Pittsburgh territory, to the west Chicago's. During 1918, 1920, and 1921 the United States Steel corporation sold 12,224,515 tons in the Chicago territory and 13,254,667 tons in the Pittsburgh territory.

The association asserts that the Chicago territory has 51 per cent of the nation's population, 71 per cent of all crops, 75 per cent of all live stock, 54 per cent of all dairy products, 78 per cent of all farm machinery, 53 per cent of all automobiles, and 70 per cent of the steam railroad trackage.

On top of those prospects the association estimates that the Chicago region today is from 2,000,000 to 3,000,000 tons short of finished steel needed annually to supply its normal requirements. But the lack of the two waterways is a handicap.

Both Waterways Needed.

"Both are needed and will give tremendous impetus to the steel producing and using industries of Chicago and its metropolitan area," says the association. Its inventory goes on: "Early completion of the Illinois waterway would be particularly beneficial to the steel industry of Chicago. It is a well known fact that large quantities of steel are shipped by barge down the Ohio to the Mississippi and thence to steel consuming centers of the south. This territory is a freight rate standpoint is essentially Chicago's and if because of improved tributary to the Mississippi it can go into Chicago's legitimate distributing area and secure business, then it is undeniable that if the Illinois waterway were completed and the Illinois river improved the Chicago manufacturers of steel would be able to retain business now being lost to Pittsburgh."

Could Beat Pittsburgh.

The association points out that with the Illinois waterway Chicago would be able to run Pittsburgh out of the territory.

"No less important to the steel industry of Chicago is the open road for ships from the great lakes to the Atlantic ocean through the improvement of the St. Lawrence river," continues the survey. "Development of the entire middle western country in agriculture and industry will receive a powerful impetus when this project is completed."

CHICAGOANS WIN FIGHT WITH HIGH SEAS ON GULF

Bradenton, Fla., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The Payache, a small pleasure yacht, bearing a party of Chicago people, was towed into Manatee river and tied up at a local dock at noon today for engine repairs after a thrilling battle in the Gulf of Mexico during a storm Saturday night. The yacht was disabled by the burning out of a coil.

Passengers aboard were Capt. and Mrs. Thomas A. Waage, their 2 year old daughter Lois, Mrs. R. U. King and C. C. Jackson, all residents of Chicago and en route to Miami.

Loss of life during the storm was averted by the heroic work of Capt. Waage in going ashore and obtaining a boat to tow the disabled Payache in. Launching a small boat, Capt. Waage was less than two miles from the yacht when his boat capsized. He swam three miles to shore, crawling upon the beach, where he collapsed. He was picked up and carried to Anna Maria Beach house, where he revived and told of the danger in which he had left his party.

LADDER DIES ON STREET.
George Olson, 54 years old, a laborer, 1404 North Colin avenue, died suddenly late yesterday afternoon at Grand avenue and West Division street, where he suffered an epileptic seizure.

DAVIS LEAVES ON FIRST INSPECTION TRIP IN AIRPLANE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—(AP)—The airplane took on a new dignity today when it became the chosen vehicle of a cabinet member.

Secretary of War Davis, leaving Washington for his first inspection trip, selected an army plane to carry him and indicated that he would adopt the same method of travel in future visits to nearby army posts.

His destination today was Langley field, at Hampton Roads, Va. Accompanied by Maj. Gen. Patrick, chief of the army service, and piloted by Maj. W. G. Kilner, executive officer of the service, the secretary planned to reach the field by early afternoon and return tonight by boat.

SARRAIL ON WAY TO PARIS DENIES SYRIAN OUTRAGE

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Nov. 10.—Gen. Sarrail, recently relieved of office as high commissioner in Syria, is on his way to Paris to explain what happened in that country, where the French are reported to have lost nearly 7,000 men and spent four billion francs in the last four years. He was met at this port by a special correspondent of the Paris Petit Parisien, who bluntly informed him: "They say in France that you have destroyed one-half of the city of Damascus."

Gen. Sarrail is quoted as replying: "Three hundred houses are down in the Moslem quarter. We had been attacked and fourteen French soldiers were killed and 47 wounded."

Gen. Sarrail further declared that 137 lives were lost, including soldiers, civilians, and about fifty Armenians who were butchered by the rebels.

Tells of Syrian Horrors.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Additional light has been thrown on the situation in Syria, where the French are faced with an insurrection of tribesmen, by receipt here of an uncensored letter from an American arriving in Haifa from the troubled region.

On Oct. 21, he writes, there were 30,000 Armenian refugees in Beirut, crowded into an "unspeakable" camp, and refugees were arriving from Damascus at the rate of 4,000 daily. The refugees were sheltered in houses constructed of oil tins, and the crowding was "terrible."

The sanitary arrangements were inadequate and water scarce. Many of the refugees were ill, with no medicine, and the children were pale and sickly.

Italy Sends Warships.

ROME, Nov. 10.—An Italian squadron comprising one of the country's strongest battleships, the Andrea Doria, and four destroyers steamed today for the eastern Mediterranean to protect the Italian colony in the Damascus region.

MOSCOW BARREN OF HAPPY FACES, LATVIANS STATE

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 10.—The members of the Latvian trade and economic delegation which has just returned from a three weeks' study of Russian conditions addressed a public meeting arranged by the Riga Y. M. C. A. yesterday.

Ringgold Kalning, a former finance minister and chairman of the delegation, explained the Latvian situation to the audience, pointing out the amount of the Latvian imports from Russia.

M. Kalning reported that while the soviet trade chiefs opined that Latvia might obtain $3,000,000 worth of orders during the coming year, all Russia's business generally was done with political considerations in mind. M. Kalning mentioned that while the soviet government organizations generally ask credits from foreign sellers, they never grant credits to purchasers of their exports, and even ask advance payments.

M. Birshts, one of the delegates and a member of parliament, said the street life in Moscow seems normal, but during his entire visit he did not see a happy face on the streets, all the pedestrians looking as if they had just recovered from a serious illness. Linen collars are not known and the people are poorly dressed.

He said food is very expensive, sugar costing twelve cents a pound, butter sixty and other provisions accordingly. Manufactured goods are especially expensive, fantastic prices being asked for cloth, shoes and other necessities.

Thomas Rudst, another delegate, investigated conditions in the Moscow factories. He reported the eight hour day no longer exists.

BRITAIN TO CURB CREDIT TO BRING FRANCE TO TIME

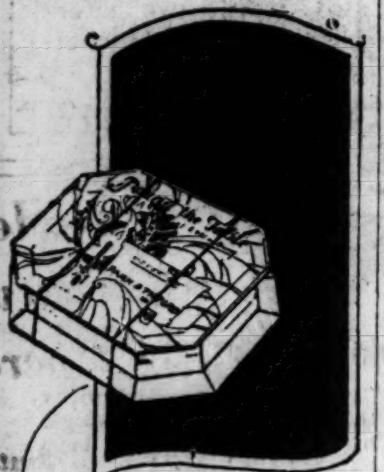

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The governor of the Bank of England has been in close consultation for several days with British treasury department officials over the currency crisis in France, and it is stated that they have agreed to bring all possible pressure to the divorce of the Bank of France from political control. Until this is done it is believed that it will be impossible to restore the financial health of Europe.

Socialists Quit; Peril Painleve.

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Premier Painleve this evening squelched rumors that he would resign immediately when he announced his intention to wage a bitter fight, if necessary, to put his financial bill through the chamber of deputies. The bill probably will come before the chamber Thursday.

The finance committee of the chamber of deputies today voted down the Socialists' proposal for a capital levy.

Girls Don't Demand Success, but They Do Ask Expectations

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Wesley's complaint against girls is that they do not want to marry a man unless he is a financial success. To reduce the situation to a concrete example he cites his own case.

He is 32 years old, earning $30 a week. He has been going with one girl for three years. Lately she has been getting "nasty" and refuses point blank to marry him until he is earning what she calls a decent salary. He is a bookkeeper, says he has tried to get a better position, but cannot seem to make the grade.

Experience in this department has taught me that one is treading on dangerous ground to suggest any fixed amount as the minimum wage on which to marry. A storm of protest came not long since when a vote of the girls in a certain insurance office hereabout disclosed that $50 a week was the minimum wage upon which a man had a right to ask a girl to share the future with him. It was pointed out that a huge percentage of our workers get much less than $50 a week, marry, and maintain homes and families on their earnings. So nothing definite can be said about income, because it is so entirely a matter of circumstances. One couple might live comfortably on $1,000 a year when another feels desperately pinched on $5,000.

The right girl will marry the right man and make the necessary sacrifices for a few years if she is confident of his ultimate success.

It is not true that most girls expect to marry a man who has already attained success, but they certainly do not want to tie themselves to a "dead one"—a man who shows no promise of being able to give them even the necessary comforts of life. They are willing enough to live for a time on hopes and expectations, but not willing to respond to the marriage entanglements of one who gives no promise of future improvement. For which you cannot blame them, can you?

All men are not cut out for great financial successes. There is no doubt of that. And every normal young fellow wants to marry. Now, instead of frittering away one's weekly salary, if a certain amount, no matter how small were put in the bank every week, I'll warrant the marriage problem would be solved for men like Wesley. Suppose he began saving a dollar when he was making $15 a week, $2 when he was making $20, and so on, until the age of 32 he would have a few dollars—perhaps enough of them to start a small business; at least sufficient money to permit him to take time and look around for better opportunities. There is about saving money a gesture that makes one more ambitious. The average youth lets his money melt away fast as it gets into his pocket. Most of it is frittered in pool or poker, smokes, drinks, or amusements that do not amuse, or on gifts for whom he cares nothing.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Recipe for Harmony.

Dear Miss Blake: My wife and I quarrel almost every day, yet she is the best girl a man ever had. Kindly advise, B. E.

When something happens to irritate you, sit right down and reason it out with your wife. Have her do the same with you. There'll be no further unpleasantness then.

Yes; Too Much.

Dear Miss Blake: I am 36 and in love with a girl of 18. Don't you think it is too much difference should I marry her? ALDEN.

It wouldn't be fair to the girl, Alden. There is too great a difference in your ages to be sure of happiness.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Three Is a Crowd.

While walking down Madison street one evening on my way home from the office I was anxious to make time, so decided to follow a man who seemed equally as anxious to get home as I. In his anxiety he fell over a "Help Keep the City Clean" box. I on top of him, and a woman of about 200 pounds upon me. We three tumbled over the curb into the street. A policeman managed to get us up, we faced each other, snickered, and away we trotted all three in different directions.

Carrying the Garbage.

It was the custom in the house to wrap the garbage up in paper before throwing it in the garbage can. The evening of our sewing club I left by the kitchen door and took the parcel of garbage with me to throw into the can on my way out of the yard. You can imagine my embarrassment when, at the club, I opened what I believed my package of needlework and found potato peelings and coffee grounds. Had thrown the needlework in the garbage can and carefully carried the garbage to our club.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each child's saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unsolicited contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address: Bright Sayings to Aunt Dee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Tommy had come over to see Billy's new toys. He meekly asked permission to look at them.

Urged by mother, Billy reluctantly permitted it.

As Tommy handled one thing after another Billy maintained a frowning silence, then suddenly roared: "If you want to see my things, you'll have to look at them with your eyes and not with your hands!"

F. J.

Aunt Beth was busy out of doors, sitting at the same time to keep an eye on her active nephew.

He loved to run, and this time chose a course round and round a big flower bed in the lawn.

After racing around three or four times he paused by his nest, panting and breathless, and burst forth, "O Aunt Beth, I ran so fast I couldn't hardly stee!"

Dinner to Be Given for French Prince, Visitor in Chicago

BY NANCY R.
Prince Jean-Victor-Amedee-Marie-Jacques de Broglie, descendant of one of the oldest dual families in France, traces his lineage back to the days of Robert Guiscard and Broglie, 1254, slipped quietly into Chicago on a gallop last night, and is now in the city, a business venture that has to do with a clock which, once wound, needs no further winding for two or three years, has now been taken care of, so the prince has a moment or two for social engagements with old friends here before he embarks for Australia on Friday.

Mrs. Harry Spenser Brown of the Churchill is giving a dinner for him this evening at the Blackstone, the dinner to be followed by a water party. He has known him and the Princess Jacques de Broglie for years, and has seen much of them in Paris and at their beautiful old Chateau de Chaulmont on the Loire, one of the loveliest in all France.

The prince has been stopping at the Drake during his visit here, and one or two entertaining bits concerning him have drifted this way. There is, for example, the fair neighbor of his who, on going from the lobby to her apartment, has occasionally tripped over her high, design boot trees, placed so conspicuously outside his door each night, each with its high heeled French boot ready to be shined. Then there is the murder of praise and speculation that follows him as he goes about his quiet, unostentatious way, his tightly tailored clothes, the diamond bars on his tie, the gorgeousness of his shirts and the distinguished character of his bearing all proclaiming him as from another land.

Men's Fashions

BY A. T. GALlico.
Art of Concealment
NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The art of concealment in dress is a simple thing when we remember light colors make us look larger and dark colors smaller.

Thus, when we take up the problem of the man with long legs who wishes to have his limbs present a more normal appearance to the world, we know immediately he must avoid dark trousers and especially tight-fitting ones. Such trousers will naturally conform to the shape of the leg, and as a result, the patient looks even more spindly-legged than before.

The proper wear for such a man is a suit of a lighter color, with the trousers cut ample, but not too much so. The exact width can be determined to suit the style. Oxford bags, of course, would be too extreme, and the leg would rattle around inside like a nut in a shell.

Light-colored socks will help to carry out the illusion. If your ankles are scrawny, you will find that by wearing blocked or checked or diamond patterned socks you will be able to thicken them considerably in appearance.

Our same friend would do well to have his trousers always creased.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.
Orange Sunshine Cake.
It may seem overfastidious to some people that a good taster finds that lemon rind in cake and puddings gives a sulphur or brimstone like taste. Yet you can easily get this taste in eating the English plum cakes and puddings which so universally contain lemon peel.

Orange peel does not give the same taste usually and orange juice seems to make more for quality—moist and so forth—than for flavor, which is never pronounced in the cake. Canned orange peel, colored and powdered, is really a valuable adjunct when we are flavoring fruit cakes and fruit puddings, and it is also exceptionally worth while for our buns and some of the simpler breads, the ten breads in special. And so it has come about that we use the orange flavor for fineness as superior to the lemon, and that we have learned how to intensify it. One of the ways is to grate peel into the juice and let it stand next to ice over night, which can be done in making the following orange sunshine cake.

Four eggs yolks, one-half cup of chilled orange juice (plain or intensified in flavor by standing over night with grated orange peel), one cup sifted sugar, two eggs whites, one and one-fourth cups of flour, one teaspoon baking powder, a pinch of salt.

Beat the four eggs with the chilled and strained orange juice until they are four or five times their original bulk or to a stiff fine-grained foam. Add about one-fourth of the cup of sugar. Beat the egg whites stiff and add the rest of the sugar to them. Combine the two mixtures and fold in the flour which has been thoroughly sifted with the baking powder. The total volume of the finished batter should be about one and a half quarts, this quantity measurement being a test of the work done. Bake about fifty minutes in 300 F. oven.

CHICAGO BIDS
FOR PRO TEAM
IN ICE HOCKEYTwo Rinks Certain
by Next Year.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.
The fastest game in the world, ice hockey, is coming into Chicago. In a year it will be launched on a big scale. Chicago is to have a franchise in the National Hockey League and support a team of the best professionals to compete for the championship along with cities like Montreal, Toronto, Boston, Pittsburgh and others who have the game already established and immensely popular.

It was learned yesterday. Other teams have been formed. During the next year, there will be no less than three big rinks constructed. Three different organizations in the city are under way. Already two of them have filed applications with a National Hockey League franchise. The third one also will make a bid for it.

New York in Line.
Chicago is rated as first city in the world for interest in ice skating. Yet Chicago never has been represented in the sport of ice hockey on a big scale.

A professional team of hockey players is performing in the National Hockey League would begin the winter sport in Chicago, it is believed.

New York has taken up the sport. It is to have a franchise this year in the hockey league. The games will be played in the city's new arena with accommodations for something like 15,000 spectators. In Boston, it is established, as it is in Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Detroit. It always has been the big winter sport in Montreal, Toronto and other Canadian cities. It is estimated that there are now over 100 hockey stunts up there, enough to supply a team to a whole league. There are only six players on a team, and only three or four substitutes are necessary.

These Facts Are Certain.
While movements are already under way to establish the winter sport here, no organization, however, the following facts are certain:

The Coliseum is to be fitted up as an ice rink, to be ready about one year from now, and the Coliseum company, through Mr. Hall, its manager, has applied for a franchise in the National Hockey League. A Philadelphia franchise, John L. Rhinco, is said to have made a contract with the Coliseum company to handle all the skating.

An application for a Chicago franchise in the National Hockey League has been made by Mr. E. R. Hawley, a Chicago attorney who represents a syndicate.

A third and still more pretentious plan for an ice rink is being advanced by M. R. Carpenter, a local manufacturer of ice machinery. He has drawn for an arena and has obtained now a north side piece of property where a rink is to be constructed with a seating capacity of 15,000. Associated with him in planning the project is Julian T. Williams, former president of the International Skating Union of America, a man who has been interested actively in promoting ice skating for twenty years. The founders of the organization intend to bid for a franchise in the National Hockey League.

Game Once Failed.
Chicago has been slow to get into the hockey game, apparently for the first time some twelve years ago it was attempted and failed when a common rink on the west side, after meeting with discouraging results in staging a few hockey exhibitions, decided to give up the whole thing and turn the structure into a skating rink.

Commonly, while Chicago people are not in greater numbers than in any other city for open air ice races, they are interested in the Tribune-Sunday Derby for the last time. The Chicagoans do not know the game of hockey.

In Cleveland, where the seating capacity of the rink is about 1,500, it is well out for every game. The National Hockey League has teams in Detroit and Boston, and in Canada are paid salaries comparable to those of big league baseball players.

WINE SOCCER

Swanson and Nordgren teams 2 to 0 victory over Crane team in a playoff of a three cornered tie for the north section soccer championship of the City League. The game was played at Winnetka Park yesterday afternoon. The Crane team met Modell in an earlier game, and the winner will play the south section title game for the league championship.

PURPLE VICTORY.
NORTHWESTERN'S victory over Michigan has been heralded until little more can be said on the subject. One of our editorial writers has told us what that game means to Northwestern practice before the football world. His words are not those of an aloof layman, but of one who understands the spirit of athletic endeavor.

There is still one point, however, which we think might be elaborated. That is the confidence in themselves which such a victory will give the Purple, not only the Purple players of 1925 but also those of succeeding years.

As Coach Jimmy Phalen lamented after the Chicago-Purdue game: "We have made enough 'good showings.' What we need is a 'big' victory. That will give us confidence in ourselves."

That was the situation at Northwestern. It has the best Purple team of recent years. It started the season with hopes of supporters high. But not enough allowance had been made for improvement of rivals. The Purple made a good showing against Chicago, but it did not win. It needed a BIG victory. Much or no mud, beating Michigan was a BIG victory.

Last year, when talking with Coach Thistlethwaite about Moon Baker, he said: "Baker has been a big factor in 'making' our team than you realize. We wanted our line to fight. Northwestern lines had fought, but nothing happened behind them. Baker made things happen. The line felt it had some one who could do something if it did its part."

That was confidence. Northwestern's great showing against Notre Dame's champions followed, but it was not a victory. Glamour of any one player wears itself out in time unless there be victories. Baker has been handicapped all season, out of play much of the season, by injuries. Then Northwestern won without Baker.

If Northwestern should not win another game this season, teams of the next few years have a RECENT example of "Wild-cattery." If there be such a word, as a stimulus, not hoary legends of great teams in the dim past.

Northwestern's victory means more to the Purple itself than it does in other precincts.

HERE'S NEW TIP
THAT HARVARD
SEEKS NEW COACHBut Fisher Says He's Still in Saddle.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Henry Pennypacker, chairman of the Harvard athletic committee, added impetus to reports that Bob Fisher, head coach at Harvard, is about through, by stating tonight that graduate coaches are not necessary at Cambridge, and the next Crimson leader may not be a Harvard man.

On the heels of this statement came a report from Providence that Head Coach E. N. Robinson of Brown and his assistant, Reggie Brown, will be with Harvard next year. Brown was one of the most popular coaches ever at Harvard, and when he left for Brown university a wave of resentment followed.

Season of Reverses.
The report that Fisher would not retain his position as Harvard head coach follows the darkest days in Crimson grid history, in which the season has been one procession of reverses.

At Providence it was said Robinson and Brown are such close friends that it would be difficult for any college to separate them. Both are working on one year contracts and able to transfer at the end of the present year. Brown admitted tonight that there had been some talk of his return to Cambridge.

Bob Fisher's Answer.
Boston, Mass., Nov. 10.—[U.N.]—"I'm still in the saddle."

This was Bob Fisher's answer tonight to the story that he is through as head coach of the cranky Harvard football machine. Roused from bed to either deny or confirm the rumor Fisher passed it off with:

"Won't you ever learn better? Tell me it's bunk, and I'm still in the saddle."

ALTER THE LINEUP
Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Harvard coaches today made important changes in the first team lineup.

Of greatest moment, perhaps, was the taking of Clem Coody from the back field and putting him at tackle. Turner, who was tried at tackle and finally at center, where he played during part of the game at Princeton, was put in at left guard ahead of Charley Bradford. Capt. Cheek, quarter back, turned this job over to Jake Stafford, last year's quarter back. The Harvard captain went to one of the half back positions. Coody will stay on the line in Harvard's remaining games against Brown and Yale. Harvard's tackles have not been up to standard.

Rev. Urban, Father of Two, Stars on Frosh Eleven

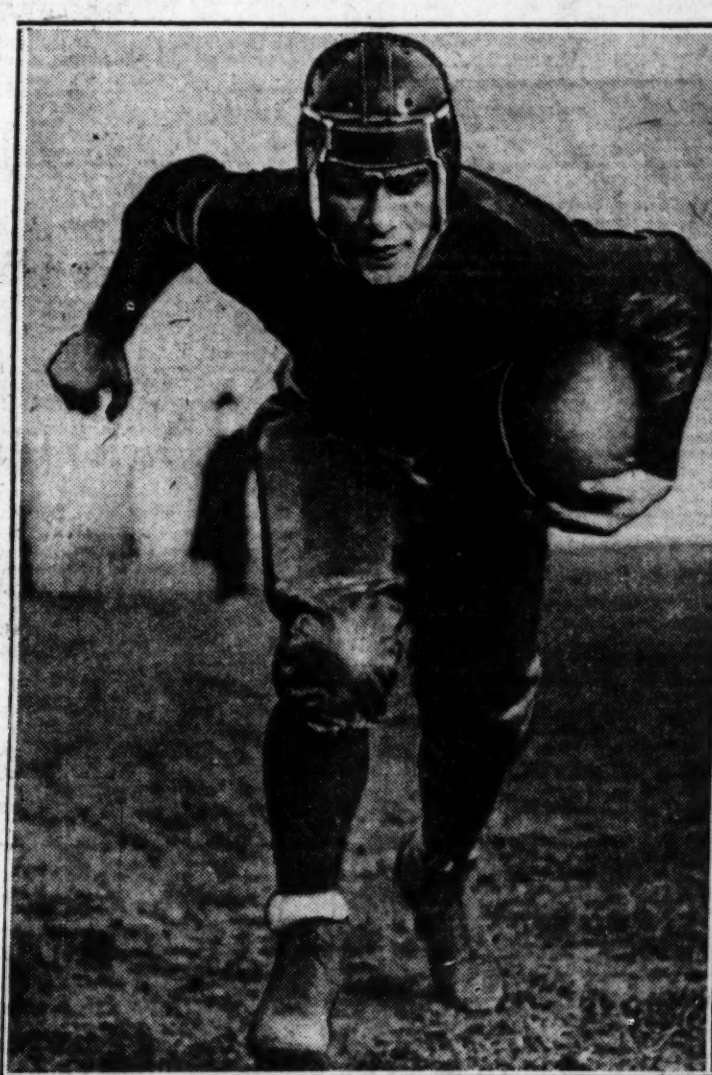

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 10.—[U.N.]—One of the stars of the University of Pennsylvania freshman football team this season is the Rev. Charles Urban, pastor of Grace Evangelical church, this city. Urban, who has played tackle in all the freshman games, is the father of two children, a girl, 3 years old, and a boy, four.

Coaches Clark Craig and Frank Dewhurst said tonight that Urban is one of the best linemen they have seen at the university in years. He is six feet one inch in height and weighs 192 pounds. Dewhurst said that Urban turns out for the varsity next fall he is almost sure to make the team.

Peru, Ind., Pays Honor to Vic Aldridge of Pirates

Peru, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Vic Aldridge, of the Pittsburgh National league ball club was guest of honor at a banquet given in the high school gymnasium tonight. Senator A. B. Robinson was among the speakers. Aldridge pitched for the Peru Grays several years ago.

THEY MAY DECIDE MICHIGAN-OHIO BATTLE

Elmer Marek is expected to be the big star for Ohio. Elmer is a dangerous runner and buckler and a sterling hurler of passes.

Yost's Stars in Trim for Buckeye Tilt
Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—All of Michigan's regulars will be in the lineup Saturday when the Wolverines meet Ohio State. Edwards, tackle, who has been injured for several weeks, is ready again and Gregory, who was slightly injured in an automobile accident, has recovered and will probably play right half.

Horvath also will see action against the Buckeyes, his leg having come round in good shape. Benny Friedman was injured last week in the Northwestern game, but the injury will not be serious enough to keep him on the bench. Friedman spent considerable time this afternoon instructing Oosterbaan, Gregory and Puckolworts in the forward passing art and the passing may be split up between these men.

The freshman team, opening up an avalanche of passes on the varsity today, failed to gain ground and was equally unsuccessful with line plays.

WILCE PLANS OFFENSE
Columbus, O., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Ohio State will take the offensive against Michigan when they clash Saturday at Ann Arbor. This was indicated when Coach Wilce drilled his men today in attack instead of ordering defense against passes. The regulars tore through the scrum for large gains, using several quick plays.

The Buckeyes will not present a diversified attack against the Wolverines, but are perfecting about ten plays. Michigan's forward pass formations were fairly successful when used against the varsity by the scrubs.

Marek and Karow, injured back field men, appeared at practice today, but did not don uniforms.

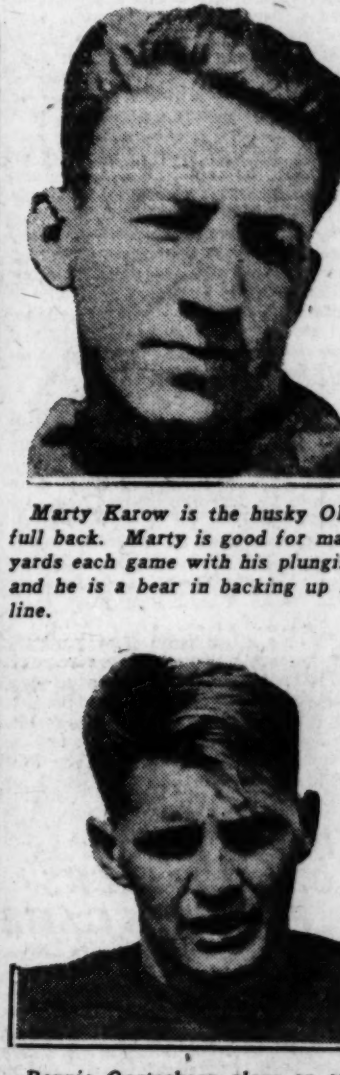

ZONING BOARD DELAYS ACTION ON N. U. STADIUM

A delay of at least one week was encountered by Northwestern university in starting construction of its huge new athletic stadium last night, when members of the Evanston zoning board of appeal failed to take definite action on the permit for the new structure.

The university was seeking to build a triple deck stadium, which would protrude into the air 128 feet, it being higher than any other similar structure in the country. The zoning board of appeal, including A. B. Anderson, Warner Baird, Fred Schutte, Francis Baldwin, and John Branch, deferred action until their meeting of next week.

Northwestern officials, students, and many prominent are hopeful the delay will mean granting of the permit for the stadium at the next meeting.

WEISSMULLER TO CAPTAIN SWIM TEAMS AT I. A. C.
Johnny Weissmuller, the world's greatest swimmer, last night was elected captain of the swimming and water polo teams of the I. A. C. The election was held in connection with the annual dinner of the swimming squad. Following the custom, the new leader presented Floyd Torrey, last year's captain with a diamond medal. Plans were outlined for the coming year. Efforts will be made to retain the National A. U. indoor and outdoor swimming championships.

Marty Karow is the husky Ohio full back. Marty is good for many yards each game with his punting, and he is a bear in backing up his line.

Bennie Oosterbaan plays an end for Coach Yost's eleven. He already has acquired a reputation for his skillful snaring of passes and defensive play.

Dartmouth Prexy, Trustees, Alumni, to See Game Here

Dartmouth officials, students and alumni will be out in full force for the game Saturday at Stagg field.

President Ernest Martin Hopkins of the school, the board of trustees and the Alumni council, all are coming from Hanover. The Dartmouth band, which has been compared to Paul Whiteman's, will make the trip, and several hundred of undergraduates will be on hand.

Besides that, Dartmouth alumni will gather, not only from western cities but many are coming from Boston and other eastern centers. Dartmouth's allotment of 6,000 seats was sold in Hanover.

The Dartmouth Association of Chicago has established headquarters at the Drake hotel for a three day reunion, starting Friday morning. On Friday night a banquet will be held, with President Hopkins of Dartmouth and President Max Mason of Chicago as distinguished guests.

WHERE TICKETS GO

In answer to queries as to why tickets for the Chicago-Dartmouth game, to be played at Stagg field Saturday, are so scarce, the Midway football ticket office offers this explanation: Tickets have been entirely taken over by season ticket holders and by students and alumni of the two schools.

Ticket committees of both Chicago and Dartmouth have been swamped with applications from their alumni, and every means is being taken to insure no one getting a ticket who does not intend to see the game. To this end Dartmouth has cut down its allotment to students so that parents or Dartmouth students, who had hoped their sons would be able to supply them with dorms, are being disappointed.

The fact that the Maroon homecoming, the first in Chicago's history, falls on the date of the Dartmouth game makes the demand for tickets from the old grads so great that it will be impossible for the Midway tickets committee to fill anything other than alumni applications.

Reverse Play Likely.
Chicago may also meet variations of the reverse play made famous by Fred Warner, present coach of Stanford, when he was in charge of football at Pittsburgh and the Carlisle Indian school. Before Hawley was appointed head coach at Dartmouth, Dr. Spears, present teacher of football at Minnesota, was in command of the football situation at Hanover.

EASTERN SQUAD
SET TO FLASH
TRICKY ATTACKHawley Sees Offense
as Best Defense.

CHICAGO BOUND

Hanover, N. H., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Dartmouth went through its last hard practice today before the game with Chicago. A defensive dummy scrimmage against Chicago plays occupied the major part of the practice.

After the practice tomorrow the green squad will burn the tackling dummy and entrain for the middle west. Football in Hanover will be technically over for the year. The solemn rite will take place when the entire student body gathers to give the team a sendoff for its most important game of the year.

Saturday the undergraduate body will gather again to follow their team through the game by means of telegraphic reports shown by the gridgraph.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.
If weather conditions are favorable and the field conducive to open play, Dartmouth is expected to flash one of the best attacks seen in the middle west this season on Saturday, when it meets Chicago on Stagg field.

While Jesse Hawley, the able coach of the Dartmouth eleven, has always leaned toward a scoring eleven and shown a preference for the development of an offense, he has not overlooked the defense. Hawley believes a good offense is his best defense. The Green forward wall will be just as powerful as that of the Midway eleven, while the ends and secondary defense will know something of the style of attack of Chicago. The Maroons have been thoroughly scouted in every game.

Hawley will be remembered by western football fans as a former coach at the University of Iowa. In those years Hawley was known for his cleverness in the development of puzzling formations. He has clung to these ideas, and some plays which he used at Iowa were called into commission in the big games with Harvard and Cornell.

Relies on Trick Plays.
Successful execution of some of Hawley's plays demands clever and brainy players who call these formations at opportune times. Hawley has always maintained there are times in every football game when some formation with just a trifle of deception will turn the tide of a game. This is particularly true of the start of games when players of both teams are not warmed up to the fricas.

The dead man's play, for instance, was used by Hawley when he was at Iowa, and was not only executed successfully by this team but by many others as well. In this play the player carrying the ball is used at a center and passes the ball to one of the backs.

As the play is prearranged by signal, other members of the team will take various positions with an unbalanced line and seven players on the scrimmage line. As soon as all are in position a signal is given and the supposed prostrate player acts the part of a center and passes the ball to one of the backs.

Hidden Ball Fake.
When the player lies on the ground after trying to advance the ball, opponents generally relax. No time is lost by the offending team in taking positions and in many cases the play is put in motion before the defense is set to meet the attack.

The hidden ball formations are others which may be sprung on Chicago. At Iowa, Hawley was a firm believer in the quarterback taking the old position behind center. This player then would receive the oval from the pivot man, turn with his back to the scrimmage line and hide the ball in his stomach. In some instances he would fake it to a back for a straight plunge, and then sneak back a few yards to make a forward pass. On other occasions, he would conceal the ball long enough for a fake play, and then sneak around the end. Milton Ghee, a Dartmouth quarterback of a few years ago, worked this trick on Princeton for the winning score.

Hawley is also a stickler for the running attack. This sort of offense should remind the spectators of the Notre Dame style of offensive play last year. The backs run hard and with great power while the ball carriers either sweep the ends or cut back inside or outside at tackle. A number of these plays are launched from punt formations with guards leading the interference.

Reverse Play Likely.
Chicago may also meet variations of the reverse play made famous by Fred Warner, present coach of Stanford, when he was in charge of football at Pittsburgh and the Carlisle Indian school. Before Hawley was appointed head coach at Dartmouth, Dr. Spears, present teacher of football at Minnesota, was in command of the football situation at Hanover.

Spears gave the Dartmouth team

GEORGE GIPP IS GREATEST PLAYER

Honored by Walter Camp
in 1920.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

As long as football is played at Notre Dame the name of George Gipp will be identified with the game as the greatest player who ever wore the Gold and Blue since the coming of the forward to the Notre Dame gridiron in 1916. Some may go even further by asserting that George is the greatest football player in Notre Dame gridiron history.

Gipp was an ideal player for the new game. He could pass, run, or kick, while his defensive ability was every bit as strong as his offensive play. He was along the line of Harold Gage of Illinois, and while he was not the open field runner of the Illinois captain, he was better at forward passing and kicking.

Made 62 Yard Drop Kick. Gipp broke into the spotlight in 1916 when he was a member of the Notre Dame freshman team. In a game between the freshman and Western State Normal Gipp made a 62 yard drop kick, one of the longest field goals in record. In his freshman year he raised Notre Dame's record in scrimmage drills, and his forward passing and punting soon attracted the attention of Coach Knute Rockne and his assistants.

Gipp was used on the varsity lineup in his sophomore year, but a broken leg in the middle of the season put him out of commission for the remainder of the year. He played in 1918, the S. T. C. year, which did not count as a season of intercollegiate competition.

Best Army in 1920.

In 1919 and 1920, Gipp showed to the best advantage. It was in the latter year that Gipp dazzled the Army with an avalanche of forward passes which returned his team an easy victor. His continual threat of running or passing made him a menace. It was in his last year, 1920, that Gipp was taken with a serious throat infection. He made his final gridiron appearance against Northwestern at Evanston. The next day George became ill and was taken to St. Joseph hospital, South Bend.

His great work in 1920 won him a place on Walter Camp's all-American team. Gipp was notified of the honor the day before he died, although the lineup had not been officially announced. It was a fitting tribute to a great player.

Notre Dame has developed some wonderful players, but it is extremely doubtful if any possessed the all-around ability of this truly great warrior, who was a credit to football.

Cowboy Kutsch Will Be Back in Saddle for Minnesota Game

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—

With Cowboy Kutsch and Paul Smith promised for the lineup Saturday,

Iowa is preparing for the Minnesota game better equipped in the way of reserves than it has been since the opening of the season. The general condition of the team, however, makes it likely that there will be more need for reserves than ever before. The field was soft to night with slush and the varsity plowing machinery treated the field roughly. The lighter backs also came in for a session, for Coach Ingwersen continues to prepare for either wet or dry weather. The line is again his chief worry. Failure to protect the punter probably cost Iowa the Wisconsin game, and the coach does not want a repetition at Minneapolis.

MINNESOTA. Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Minnesota regulars spent another long afternoon on defense against Iowa plays today. It wasn't a real scrimmage, but more of a dummy affair, with the yearlings walking through the Iowa formations to give the varsity an idea of what they will be up against Saturday. Today's practice found one more new face in the Minnesota back field. Clarence Arndese of Aberdeen, S. D., who has been working at center, was returned to the back field to strengthen the Gophers' secondary defense against passes. He's a corking man on defense and is a fair ball carrier. Gary, Cooper, and Ascher, three crippled regulars, didn't report for practice today and the chances are they will not play against Iowa.

WISCONSIN. Madison, Wis., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Wisconsin's first team was let off with a light workout again tonight, while the second scrimmaged a reserve eleven that was using Michigan State plays. Coach George Little drilled his regulars in forward pass offense, after which he put them into a dummy scrimmage against the All-Americans. The Badger varsity showed themselves none too proficient in knocking down enemy passes.

INDIANA. Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—The Indiana camp was plunged into gloom tonight when it became known that George Bishop, right guard on the varsity, who was injured in the Ohio State game, will be out for the season. Bishop is one of the best linemen who has ever fought for the Crimson.

NOTRE DAME. Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Capt. Clem Crowe will be out of the game the rest of the season, according to an announcement by Coach Rockne today. Crowe was injured in the early part of the game with Penn State. Notre Dame's varsity was given another rest today, while the second and third teams scrimmaged against the freshmen. Voedisch, the former South Bend High school star, will occupy the left end vacated by Capt. Crowe. C. Walsh, brother of Adam Walsh, captain of the 1924 team, is also a strong candidate for the position. A sellout for the homecoming game with Carnegie Tech Saturday and for the Northwestern game Nov. 21 is reported by the athletic office.

DE PAUL TO PLAY
LA CROSSE NEXT

Cognizant of the fact that De Paul university has a good chance to win the western intercollegiate conference gridiron championship, Coach Eddie Anderson is drilling his men hard for the game with La Crosse Normal at La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 21. The ends were given a long workout yesterday in running down punts.

Nimrod Shoots Mallard with C. L. B. 13 Band

BY BOB BECKER.

Eldon, Ia.—[To the Editor.]—While hunting this morning four mallards came over. I killed two, and on examining them I found that both were drakes, one of which had a band on its leg. Am sending the band to you. It has the initials C. L. B. and the number 13. Can you give me any information about this bird?

F. B. MILLARD.

ANSWER—I have no dope on this bird, but the Biological Survey in Washington undoubtedly has a record of it. Will get in touch with this bureau and find out where the mallard was banded and when. There are hundreds of banded ducks on the move right now, and the banders are keen to hear from hunters who have killed them.

Merced, Wis.—[To the Editor.]—We are wondering whether you can tell us where to go for reliable information on muskrat farming. There are many swampy lakes in the north not suitable for fishing but which are admirably adapted for fur farming, and we propose to do a little experimenting this winter. Any information you can give us will be greatly appreciated.

E. S. WILSON.

ST. AMBROSE TO MEET N. DAME RESERVES TODAY

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—

When St. Ambrose takes the field against the Notre Dame Reserves here tomorrow, teams coached by teacher and pupil will be pitted against each other. Forest Cotton, St. Ambrose leader, was an all-western tackle at Notre Dame in 1922.

The game is sponsored by the Davenport post of the American Legion. A record crowd for Tri-City football is expected.

See if you don't agree with this frank statement!

YOU can only get so much for 10 cents—if you demand the best. That's a frank statement. And one in which every sensible person will surely agree.

To cigars, especially, does this apply. For Havana tobacco—admittedly the finest—is costly, and to be enjoyed at the peak of its natural goodness must not be marred by the mixture of inferior tobaccos. It is easy, then, to understand why careful smokers prefer Robt. Burns Panatelas. They know that the long, graceful shape means full Havana filler in all its unadulterated goodness. If you're particular, it's the greatest 10-cents-worth your dime will buy.

And now that tobacco from the best Havana crop since 1915 is being used, you'll find Robt. Burns Panatelas, sweeter tasting, milder, more mellow than ever. Try one today.

U. S. TAX BOARD SOAKS PENALTY ON CHICAGO MAN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—[Special.]—Fred Ascher, 4838 Prairie avenue, Chicago, is held in a decision of the board of tax appeals today to have paid a tax return for the year 1919 which was "intentionally false and fraudulent."

The board upheld a charge made by the commissioner of internal revenue that as a means of evading taxes he failed to report the full amount of the salary of $38,000 as president of the Columbia Fastener company, causing the wife to report $25,000 of the amount as her salary from the same company. A 50 per cent tax penalty was approved.

Recently Factory Workers.
The board in its decision devoted much attention to the affairs of the Columbia Fastener company, which was formed after the outbreak of the European war to manufacture fasteners for women's garments which had previously been imported largely from Europe.

It was stated that Ascher and his wife both actually worked in the factory in the early stages of the business, his wife beginning at a salary as low as $15 a week.

"The evidence shows that a resolution purporting to have been adopted Dec. 30, 1919, undertook, on behalf of the corporation, to transfer $25,000 of salary already received by him from Ascher to his wife," says the board.

Belated Afterthought.
"The ledger account of Ascher shows that his account had been closed and ruled off before this afterthought was carried into effect and that the adjustment was clumsily made by a journal some time between Dec. 17 and Jan. 2. It further appears that after having credited May Ascher with $25,000 by a charge to her husband's account, the bookkeeper found it necessary to close that account by charging a portion of Ascher's own withdrawals to May Ascher's account."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
CALCUTTA, India, Nov. 10.—Word has been received here that the Bengal electoral sex disqualification act, giving the vote to women over twenty-one, will go into effect immediately. Bengal is one of the most conservative provinces in respect to ancient Hindu traditions. Many Bengalese women still hide their faces with veils.

You Don't Need Millions to live at ease in lovely Indrio

WHAT once was a rich man's playground is today a paradise for families of moderate means. Florida now offers a comfortable living to those who are far from "rich" according to Northern standards.

At Indrio, for instance, $50,000 will keep you in comparative luxury the rest of your days. $10,000 of it will buy a house and lot which couldn't be duplicated for $20,000 here, and the remaining $40,000 will produce $3,200 yearly when safely invested in 8% Florida mortgage bonds. As living expenses and taxes are low in Indrio, such an income is equal to $5,000 in the north.

Avoid Crowded Cities
But what is true of Indrio is not the case in Florida's larger cities. These are naturally much more expensive. Many, unfortunately, have become bedlams of humanity—confused, haphazard growths with little beauty and no repose.

Hence many residents of now crowded resorts are building in the newer and finer developments—in restful, artistic, economical communities such as Indrio.
